2021 Theme: Rebound with Attendance!

Key Messages

1. Chronic absence reflects and contributes to educational inequity.

2. Building strong, trusting relationships that promote a feeling of belonging is fundamental to improving student attendance and engagement.

3. Students are more likely to attend school if they feel safe, connected and supported.
Key Messages

4. A positive, problem-solving approach driven by data will improve attendance.

5. Keeping students, families and school staff physically and emotionally healthy supports attendance.

6. When the whole community collaborates with families and schools, we can overcome barriers to attendance and engagement.
Chronic absence is missing so much school for any reason that a student is academically at risk. Chronic absence is defined as missing 10 percent or more of school for any reason.

Chronic absence is different from truancy (unexcused absences only) or average daily attendance (how many students show up to school each day).
What is the relationship between absences and equity?

Chronic absence is a leading indicator and a cause of educational inequity.

Improving Attendance Matters
Impact of Covid-19 on Attendance/Absenteeism

Before March 2020

- Daily attendance taking required in all states
- Consistently measured across states, districts, schools and grades; hard to manipulate
- Easily captured and analyzed
- Research supports use of missing 10% of school for early warning
- Chronic absence must be included in state report cards (ESSA)
- 37 states use it for school accountability

During SY 2020-21

- Daily attendance only required in 31 states+ DC
- Varies significantly for remote learning by locality and type of instruction
- Participation data for remote learning captured in LMS but not easily downloaded to SIS
- Lack research on remote early warning metrics; absenteeism could underestimate challenge
- Chronic absence must be included in state report cards (ESSA)
- Public reporting of disaggregated chronic absence data required to waive accountability
Present Danger:
Solving the Deepening Student Attendance Crisis

A new report from FutureEd takes a deep dive into 5 large school districts working with EveryDay Labs.

- Not only are more students missing school, they’re missing many more days. The extent of “extreme chronic absenteeism,” missing half the school year, is way up
- Absenteeism rates are rising faster among younger students
- Disadvantaged students see the biggest jumps in chronic absenteeism rates in every community
- Enrollment declines are most severe in the early grades
- Perfect attendance rates are also up, likely a mirage created by the changes in measuring attendance in the pandemic

Topics to Address with Messaging & Communications for the Return to School

- Learning Options & Schedule
- Health and Safety
- Warm Welcome
- Attendance & Engagement
Tier 1: Universal Attendance Supports

- Clear, concise and consistent communication about schedules and expectations
- Predictable daily/weekly routines, rituals and celebrations related to attendance
- Community building to create belonging and connection
- Taking attendance in a caring manner
- Personalized outreach and communication to families when students are absent
- Recognition of good and improved attendance
- Individual wellness check and connectivity assessments
- Facilitate access to food, health/telehealth and supports for other basic needs
- Regular monitoring of attendance data to activate supports and identify trends
Tier 2 Strategies Layer in Support, Strengthen Relationships, and Take a Problem-Solving Approach

- Personalized Early Outreach
  - Assign caring mentors
  - Expanded learning opportunities
  - Attendance goals and supports added to IEP
  - Student Attendance Success Plan
  - Small group supports

Recommended Steps:

1. Establish your team
2. Review data & identify priority groups
3. Craft engagement strategies
4. Reflect, learn & improve

Nurture Belonging in School
Build Bridges to School
Create Community at School

Find the toolkit here:
Create Community at School

- Focus on social and emotional wellness, re-establishing routines and rituals, and building community in the first weeks of school
- Bring in programming and partnerships that expands the capacity of the school to provide for physical, behavioral, and mental health and wellness
- Create structures that build and sustain relationships between students, families, and educators (advisories, mentoring, ambassadors, councils, and buddy systems)
Using Data for Continuous Improvement

- How many and which students missed the first day of school?
- How many and which students are participating in remote vs. in-person learning?
- How many and which students are still missing from enrollment lists or lack current working contact information?
The greater the size of the challenge, the more partners are needed. Many different types of partners can be enlisted, but local government and public agencies are especially important. Tap into existing initiatives and coalitions to engage potential partners.

- Businesses
- Community Schools Initiatives
- Family Support Organizations
- Early Childhood Providers
- Faith-Based Organizations
- Health / Mental Health Providers
- Housing Agencies
- Hunger Relief Organizations
- Institutes of Higher Education
- Local / Tribal Governments
- National Service / Volunteers / Mentors
- Out-of-School Time providers
- Social Emotional Learning Providers
- Social Services
- Population-Specific Service or Civic Organizations
- Philanthropy (including foundations and United Ways)
What is a Community School?

A community school is a public school—the hub of its neighborhood, uniting educators, community partners, and families to provide all students with top-quality academics, enrichment, health and social services, and opportunities to learn and thrive – A Place Where:

- Families and educators partner with doctors, nurses, social workers, community agencies, businesses, higher education, and others to provide the comprehensive academic and non-academic supports
- Students have a voice in what their school looks like
- Families are respected and engaged
- The wisdom and assets of the community are respected
- Students, families, neighbors, and community partners work with school staff to shape the school’s priorities.
Equity in Community School Implementation

Four Pillars of Community Schools

• Expanded Learning Time & Opportunities
• Collaborative Leadership and Practice

• Active Family and Community Engagement
• Integrated Student Supports
Equity in Community School Implementation

What systems or processes are in place to ensure:

• equitable allocation of resources across the four pillars (funding, staff, programs and services)?

• equitable access and opportunity for ALL students and families (ELL, SPED, immigrants, disabled students etc.)?

• equitable decision-making that centers community, family and student voice?

• equitable access to relevant data for ALL key stake-holders to foster continuous improvement?

Get Serious About Attendance

Students Have to Show Up to Learn

What We Know
Students who do not regularly attend school are less likely to learn, less likely to graduate, and less likely to succeed as adults in terms of jobs, health, staying out of jail, and other indicators of well-being. For example, more than 20,000 DPSCD students (over two-thirds of the students) missed 10 or more days of school in 2015-2016, which was considered to be chronically absent at the time. You can’t learn if you don’t first show up.

Missing School 10 Days or More a Year

30,000+ DPSCD students (65% of student population) 400,000+ students statewide (27.4% of student population)

We want to make sure students, families, teachers, and the full community see the importance of attending school every day as our top priority, demonstrated by drastically reducing the “chronic absence” rate (students missing 10 percent or more days of school for any reason).

TACTICS:
• If students don’t go to school, they can expect a bleak future. Thus, our community must own responsibility for this issue and execute a broad-based attendance campaign to eliminate chronic absenteeism among Detroit students.
• The local data required to devise targeted solutions are lacking. Make data more consistent and reliable by:
  — Using a single definition (above) for measuring chronic absence. This should be used and enforced statewide.
  — Creating a citywide data system to create a single source of student data across governance types for all appropriate parties. Data should include reasons for absences.
  — Conducting Detroit-specific research on chronic absence and persistent attendance.
• Improve school climate and culture so that kids want to stay in school. Train all school staff in restorative practices as an alternative to “zero tolerance” discipline policies that push students out of school. Reduce the number of out-of-school suspensions/expulsions.

Increase public and private funding for proven school-based health interventions that help keep students in school, including making school nurses, school mental health providers, and school-based health centers available to all students through strategic partnerships as part of a broad set of school-based health services, community schools, and wrap-around services that address obstacles to attendance.

Enlist parents and caregivers to help prevent avoidable student absences, making sure Detroit’s students are in school every day. Parents and caregivers are critical to the success of this and all our priorities.

“Student absence is a big issue. Schools need a better system on taking attendance to assure parents that their children are in school and learning.”

MEDIA ALERT

WHAT: Every School Day Counts Detroit, a coalition of community organizations and schools working together to support student attendance, has released an open letter as part of its “Count Me In” campaign, calling on leadership—public, private, educational, faith-based and philanthropic—to convene immediately to restructure learning for this school year and perhaps beyond.

The letter was drawn concurrent to Governor Gretchen Whitmer and State Superintendent Michael Rice’s charge for Michigan officials to account for the 13,000 Michigan children who are have not been unrolled or are otherwise missing from school.

WHY: We cannot wait six more months in hopes that life will return to “normal” next fall. At least 13,000 children are known to be missing from school, with we know several thousand are Detroit children. Empirical and antidotal data both make it clear that by and large, students are not engaged in school, not learning well, and are experiencing mental health challenges. Vaccination alone will not address all the consequences of this pandemic and our urgent immediate crisis. We must account for and care for children NOW.

WHO: Every School Day Counts Detroit members (See attached list)

WHEN: Tuesday, December 22 at 10 a.m.
Other Actions we don’t have time to discuss right now

• we extended the scope of our efforts to include early childhood in partnership with United Way, Hope Starts Here, and Attendance Works

• we created internet hot spots as urgent response to lack of internet access

• we offered TA, supporting both DPSCD and charter schools by working directly with school leadership and attendance teams, equipping them with local and national research, strategies and best practice for implementation, along with sharing lots of local resources for families and staff on social-emotional and basic needs.

• Conducted research on students’ attendance and experience with online learning early in the pandemic, which informed school response

• Administered a representative survey of more than 1,000 DPSCD families to identify how their socioeconomic conditions were affected by the pandemic and what relationship those SES changes may have had on attendance (report to come this fall).

• Documented wide variation in the amount of engagement students were experiencing, ranging from 20 minutes a few days a week to five hours every weekday
Students and Parents both, depressed, experiencing domestic violence and other negative emotional effects
- Many students struggling to stay engaged
- Confusing and mixed standards adding to the stress of the pandemic
- Students disconnected

Our vision of learning
in the post-pandemic world

In our pursuit of a more fair, just, and good system of education, it is CMSD’s vision that each of our learners, both each of our scholars and each of their educators, to be individually and collectively presented with academically & intellectually complex tasks that are worthy of their productive struggle and allow them meaningful opportunities to demonstrate their work and their learning of both academic content and transferable skills in a joyful and adventurous environment.

Foundation for design & implementation:
All work must be designed & implemented intentionally, with equity and inclusion at the forefront of all decision-making.
Data and Information Informing our Planning

• CMSD surveyed students, families and educators several times throughout the shutdown to understand perceptions of safety and readiness to return to in-person learning.

• CMSD focused on understanding root drivers to the attendance behaviors we were seeing. For example:
  – PreK & K – parents didn’t enroll their children; kept their children at home
  – High schools – students stopped out to pick up jobs
  – Middle school – students sometimes lacked the self-regulation required for much more independent learning
  – Some students thrived as well

• We interviewed and focus-grouped over 500 community members (students, teachers, parents, community leaders, principals, etc.) to determine what our community wanted for our kids post-pandemic

• We’ve hired some partner organizations to help us to continue to learn how to more fully activate parents directly in their children’s learning.
Overall Vision for Reengaging Students and Families

• We know the Attendance Campaign was very effective when launched six years ago.
  – reduced chronic absenteeism by 8.1% percentage points
  – Promoted positive messaging, monitoring attendance data, and addressing barriers
  – Maintained a dedicated internal/external team to support the campaign

• We will re-energize our city-wide attendance efforts with a focus on district, school, and community messaging from the importance of “getting to school” to the importance of “going to school”.
  – Engage “The CMSD Summer Experience”
  – Enroll “The CMSD Experience > Get More”
  – Attend Cleveland Browns Stay in the Game! Network
THE CMSD Summer Learning Experience

Finish, Enrich, Engage
Plans for Welcoming Students Back to School

Strategic partnership with the Cleveland Teachers Union to: call (3,000), door knock (900), and home visit (???) with targeted families with low or no engagement last school year to reengage and reenroll these families

Expand what’s working from our Summer Learning Experience with newly hired Parent Ambassadors (one per school) to engage and support families. Highlighted roles/responsibilities below:

• PA's are parents of students enrolled in the District
• PA's connect and communicate with families through face-to-face interactions, phone calls, emails, texts, newsletters, and flyers
• PA's provide families and the community with information and clarification on school/district initiatives and promote school/district activities and refer to appropriate contact

Continue to expand and promote the role of the SYTE Family Support Specialists (licensed social workers)
Addressing the needs of all students

• This fall CMSD will expand, emphasize and/or offer new options to support families such as – Schools resume full-time, in-person, five (5) days per week
  – New Remote K-12 school option for families
  – Continuing to extend Say Yes to Education core services and supports with the expansion of an additional 23 SYTE family support specialists
  – Adding a full-time health professional at every school to expand our integrated health partnerships
  – Investing in Restorative Practices and other strategies to reduce the exclusionary discipline of students
  – More inclusive dress expectations to replace rigid “dress code”
Addressing the needs of PreK-8 students

- This fall CMSD will expand, emphasize and/or offer new options to support families such as
  - New addition of encore options (full time arts, physical education, music teachers)
  - Extending the length of the student day
  - New activity bus shuttles for all K-8 schools
  - Expanded extra-curricular and out-of-school time activities
Addressing the needs of high school students

• Complete the conversion to a full 1:1 technology strategy for students and educators and implementing a four-year device replacement cycle

• Converting high school library/media centers into community, college and career hubs that will be open before, during and after school for student and school community use

• Implement Paid Student Ambassadors to foster Student Voice and Agency which began in our Summer Learning Experience for high school students

• Implement “Linking CMSD Students to Living Wage Careers” collective impact model

• Investing in and expanding our athletic and extra-curricular programs (e.g., adding e-sports)

To support the Stay in the Game! Network’s commitment to reducing Ohio’s chronic absenteeism rate by half over the next 10 years, the Ohio Department of Education issued a call to action for families, educators, and community members to prioritize student attendance.

To answer this call, the Department and its partners are offering practical tips, or Extra Points, educators can use to increase attendance and engagement during the school year.
