Overview of Chronic Absence

What is the relationship between absences and equity?

Chronic absence is a leading indicator and a cause of educational inequity

Attendance by income

% of parents with children in grades K-12 indicating their child could be chronically absent

- Pre-pandemic (% of parents reporting their student used to miss 15+ days in a full year)
- Spring 21 (% of parents reporting their student has missed 15+ days in 20-21 school year)
- Fall 21 (% of parents reporting their student has missed 4+ days in 21-22 school year so far)

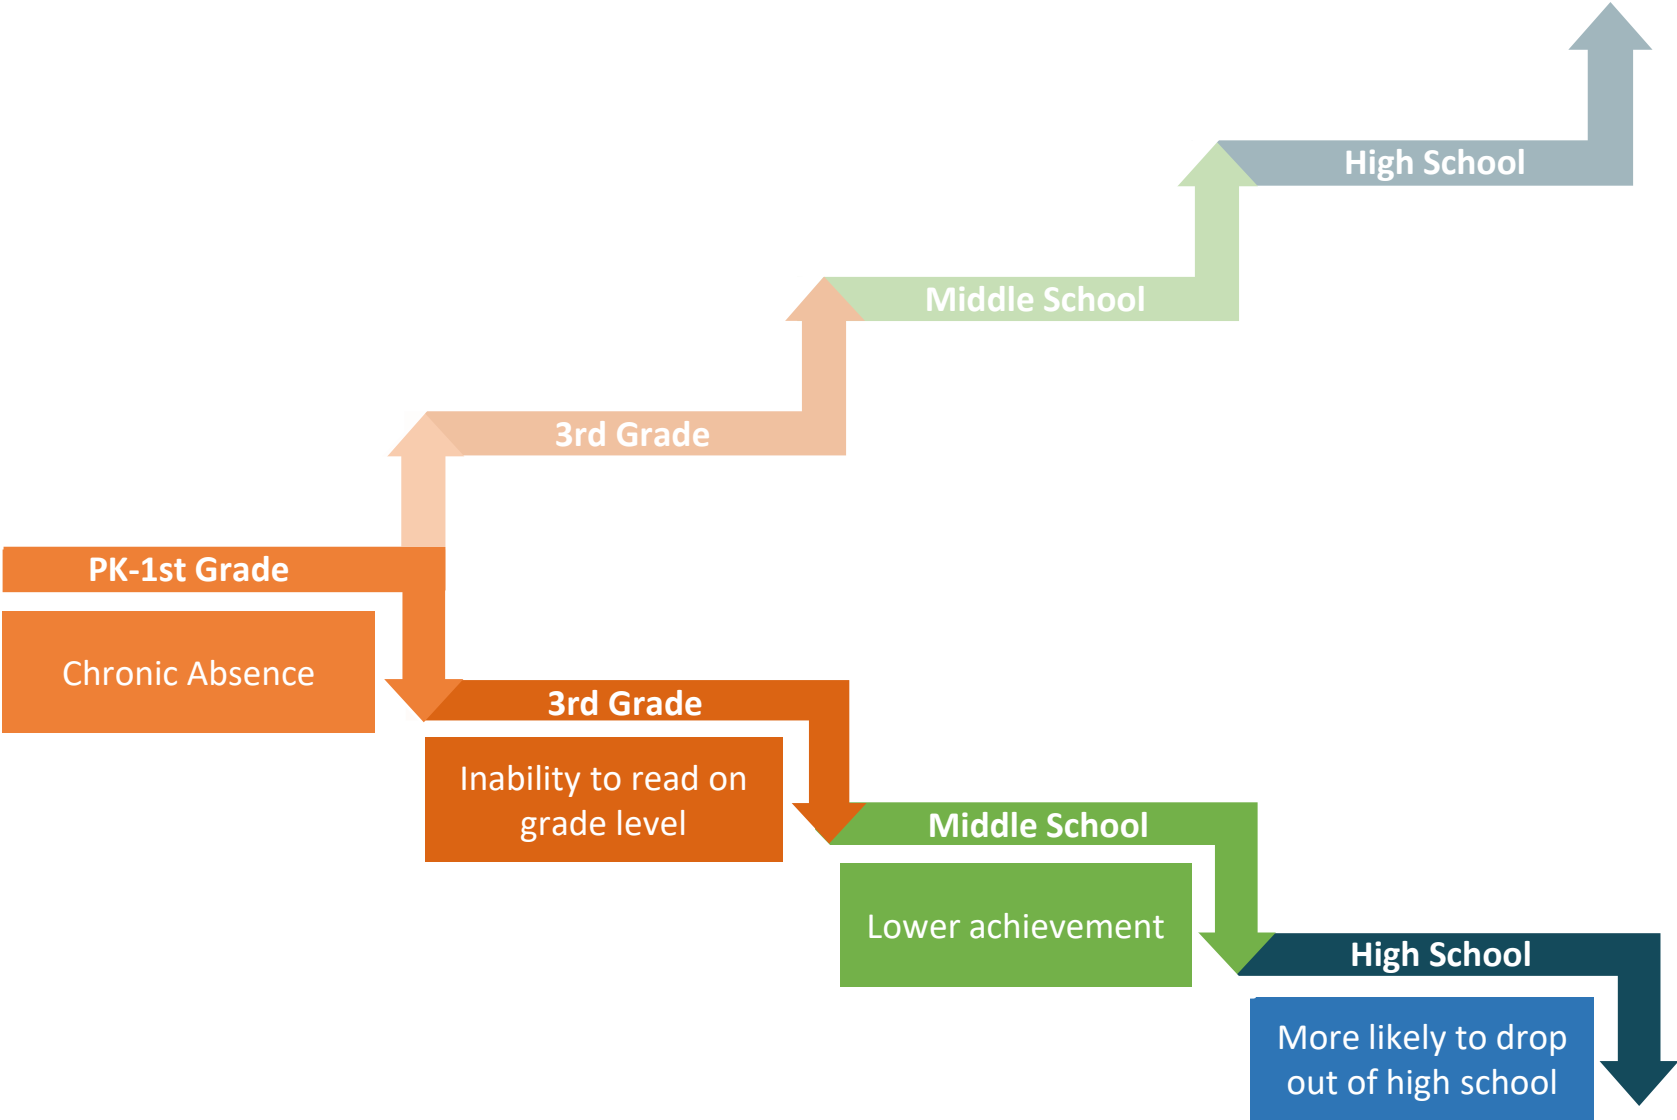

Increase from pre-pandemic to Fall 21

Improving Attendance Matters

Chronic Absence Measures Lost Opportunity to Learn

Chronic absence is missing so much school for any reason that a student is academically at risk.

Chronic absence is defined as missing 10 percent or more of school for any reason.

Chronic absence is different from truancy (unexcused absences only) or average daily attendance (how many students show up to school each day).

Average Daily Attendance (ADA) Can Mask Chronic Absence

90% and even 95% \neq A

Chronic Absence For 6 Elementary Schools in Oakland, CA with 95% ADA in 2012

Chronic Absence for 6 Schools in New York City with 90% ADA in 2011-12

98% ADA = little chronic absence

95% ADA = don't know

93% ADA = significant chronic absence

Chronic Absence vs. Truancy

What's the Difference Between Chronic Absence vs. Truancy?

Truancy

- ▲ Counts ONLY unexcused absences
- ▲ Emphasizes individual compliance with school rules
- ▲ Uses legal, typically more blaming and punitive, solutions

Chronic Absence

- Counts ALL absences (excused, unexcused & suspensions)
- Emphasizes impact of missed days
- Uses preventative, problem-solving, trauma-sensitive strategies
- Cultivates family & student engagement

Reflection

Reflect on your practice:

What approach does your school or school system take to improving attendance?

Is it more punitive or prevention oriented?

How did the video illustrate positive conditions for learning?

About Your School:

- What strategies work to forge positive relationships with students? What works for families?
- Share how you reach students & families who aren't connected to school because of a history of disconnection, who are experiencing poverty, discrimination, language barriers, etc.

Ground Rules

- Turn on your video camera
- Briefly introduce yourself
- Raise your hand to speak
- Ask clarifying questions
- Explore differences of opinion
- Create space for everyone to speak (and use the chat to express ideas)
- The person whose first name is closest to the letter "A" should facilitate.

Report Out

Share in Chat:

What are some successful strategies for building relationships, especially those with the greatest attendance challenges?

Focus on High Leverage Relationship Activities

What is a high leverage activity?

- Lays a foundation for caring and positive relationships
- Can be used with staff and with students and families
- Offered universally with extra attention and tailoring to ensure it reaches chronically absent students

(Examples: Greeting By the Door, Giving Thanks, Individual Learning Plans, Restorative Circles, etc.)

Greetings by the Door

1. Positive greeting by name
2. Smile, offer an affirming comment
3. Give students a choice, low / no contact options:
 - Wave
 - Thumbs up
 - Bow
 - Elbow bump

- ❖ Predictable daily/weekly routines related to attendance
- ❖ Take daily attendance accurately with care
- ❖ Personalized communication to families when students are absent
- ❖ Recognition of good and improved attendance
- ❖ Access to wellness checks and connectivity assessments
- ❖ Regular monitoring of attendance data

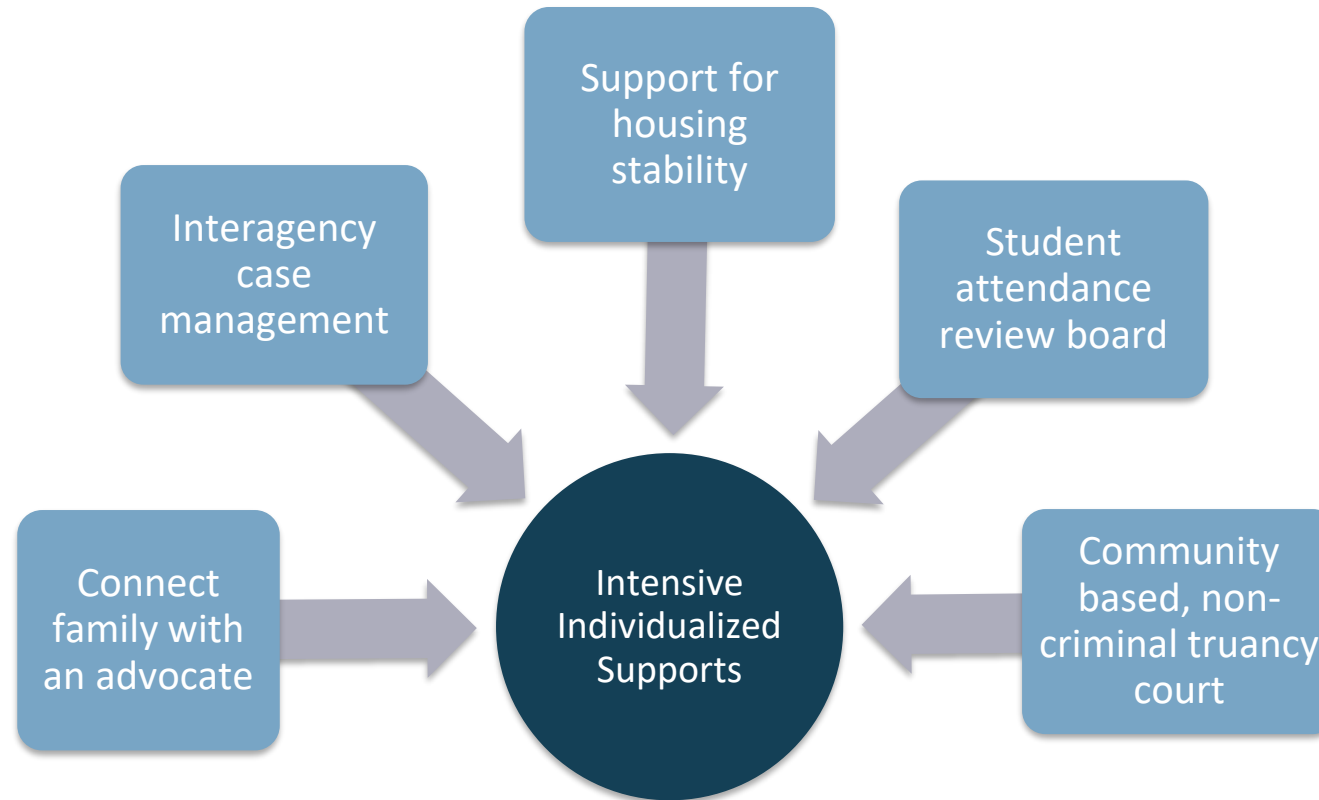

Tier 2: Strategies layer in support, strengthen relationships, and take a problem-solving approach

Tier 3: Strategies involve public and community partners and integrated case management

Effective Communications with Students and Families

Centering Communication on Restorative Practices

Engagement — involving individuals in decisions that affect them by listening to their views and genuinely taking their opinions into account

Explanation — explaining the reasoning behind a decision to everyone who has been involved or who is affected by it

Expectation clarity — making sure that everyone clearly understands a decision and what is expected of them in the future

(Kim & Mauborgne, 1997)

Ineffective Communications from Schools

Impersonal, Auto-generated, Negative Truancy Letters:

- Easy to disregard
- Many parents felt many of the absences were legitimate and didn't understand why they received a letter.
- Many parents felt that the school didn't understand their attendance challenges
- Aren't as effective as clearly written, supportive letters

Teachers Not Addressing Absenteeism:

- Most parents reported that they regularly communicate with their children's teacher, but never about absences

Effective Messaging Must Address Misperceptions

Let's Practice.

Which of these fliers aligns with research? Why?

HOW TO TALK TO CHILDREN

With the widespread news coverage about the coronavirus, known as "COVID-19", children may develop fears about the risk to their own health and safety. It is important for parents to listen to these fears, and learn some of the basic facts themselves.

Be aware of your own behavior

It can impact how your child may feel. If you're anxious, they could take their cues from you.

Stay up-to-date with information

This can help you understand and share the facts about COVID-19 with your children.

Know whether or not to talk about COVID-19 with them

It is important to know what children have heard about COVID-19 already. It is likely that they are talking about it in school, so just because your child doesn't bring it up, doesn't mean they aren't thinking about it.

Explain what is currently being done to contain COVID-19

Reassure children that the measures put in place are the best ways to keep them safe. The U.S. is carefully monitoring the situation and currently the risk in Chester County remains low. Health Departments, such as the Chester County Health Department, are encouraging personal preparedness and prevention tips to keep the community healthy.

Know what information your children are exposed to

Be mindful about where your children are being exposed to information about COVID-19. For example, they may overhear conversations, or pick up on the continuous news headlines that adults have on as background.

For teenagers and tweens who have access to news online and via social media, ask them what they are seeing and hearing about COVID-19. Help correct misinformation, and if you don't know the answer, be honest. You can research the answers together.

Validate their feelings and reassure them

Parents should listen to their child's fears and try to understand what they are feeling. Avoid saying things like "you'll be fine" or "don't worry about it."

Give them action items

Remind them of the importance of washing hands often (for at least 20 seconds), avoid touching their eyes, mouth, and nose, and keeping their areas clean by wiping down things that are used often. If your preparedness plans include stocking up on groceries and toiletries, like you would before a big snowstorm, ask your child to help. Invite them to go the store with you. Having a stash of their favorite snacks in the pantry may help them feel more prepared.

FLU FACTS TO KNOW

Getting Started

First, understand that your role as a parent is unique. No one knows and loves your child the way that you do. You are the expert on your child. And, while you may not have all the answers, you want your child to be successful in school and in life. Your passion, as a parent, can help you communicate brilliantly, and sometimes, it can overtake you.

Step 1 BE MINDFUL OF YOUR EMOTIONAL PRESSURE GAUGE AS YOU WORK WITH YOUR CHILD'S SCHOOL.

If you expect to have difficulty when meeting with school personnel, your mind and body will be primed for battle. How can you communicate successfully if you are on the verge of overflowing in anguish and outrage? Don't let your mind go there. Keep thoughts of past (or present) problems at school, worst fears, and other negatives from creeping into your mind. Focus positively on your goals and the view that the school wants to do their best for your child. Keep telling yourself that you and your child will succeed.

Step 2 PRIORITIZE AND PLAN.

What's the most important thing that needs to be accomplished for your child? Make a list of the issues, questions, and possible solutions. Rank them. Decide if there are any you can pass on and which one(s) must be addressed. Plan how you are willing to give and take in order to achieve the higher goal. Map out what you need to say and practice, if that helps:

"What's most important for Jordan right now is..."
"We really need to focus on..."

Referring to these few notes, with key phrases jotted down, can help keep you and the meeting on track.

Step 3 ACTIVELY LISTEN TO UNDERSTAND THE OTHER PERSON'S PERSPECTIVE.

If you don't understand what someone is saying, tell him or her. Be direct:

"I just don't understand what you are saying. Can you explain it in a different way or give me some examples?"
"Is there something you can show me, in writing, so I can fully understand?"

Keep asking and wait for responses until you do fully understand. Resist any temptation to answer your own questions or put words into someone else's mouth.

Step 4 CLARIFY YOUR STATEMENTS IF YOU SEE A PUZZLED EXPRESSION ON SOMEONE'S FACE AND ASK FOR CLARIFICATION IN RETURN.

Paraphrase, or restate so that you and others are clear in your understanding.

To be understood:
"I must not be explaining this clearly, what I'm trying to say is..."
"Here's a copy of... Let's look at this together. It shows that..."

So that you understand:
"It sounds like you're saying..."
"If I understand you correctly, you're saying... Is that right?"
"Is that written down anywhere so I can read it?"

Often, the process of clarifying one's understanding provides an opportunity to clear up a misconception or correct misinformation that could be critical to finding a satisfactory solution for your child. So, don't overlook the value of this technique.

Help Your Child Succeed in School:
Build the Habit of Good Attendance Early

DID YOU KNOW?

- Starting in preschool and kindergarten, too many absences can cause children to fall behind in school.
- Missing 10%, or about 2 days each month over the course of a school year, can make it harder to learn to read.
- Students can still fall behind if they miss just one or two days every few weeks.
- Being late to school may lead to poor attendance.
- Absences and tardiness can affect the whole classroom if the teacher has to slow down learning to help children catch up.

Attending school regularly helps children feel better about school—and themselves. Start building this habit in preschool so they learn right away that going to school on time, every day is important. Eventually good attendance will be a skill that will help them succeed in high school and college.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

- Set a regular bedtime and morning routine.
- Lay out clothes and pack backpacks the night before.
- Find out what day school starts and make sure your child has the required shots.
- Introduce your children to their teachers and classmates before school starts.
- Develop backup plans for getting to school if something comes up. Call on a family member, a neighbor, or another parent.
- Avoid medical appointments and extended trips when school is in session.
- Keep in mind that complaints of a stomach ache or headache can be a sign of anxiety and not a reason to stay home. If your child seems anxious about going to school, talk to teachers, school counselors and other parents for advice on how to make your child feel comfortable and excited about learning.
- If your child must stay home due to illness, ask the teacher for resources and ideas to continue learning at home

When Do Absences Become a Problem?

	CHRONIC ABSENCE 18 or more days
	WARNING SIGNS 10 to 17 days
	SATISFACTORY 9 or fewer absences

Note: These numbers assume a 180-day school year.
